"This Awakening"

I need you now... maybe more than ever...
I wanna come back to life...
But I'm not sure how...
So I'm falling into your water...
Take me deeper... deeper in silent...
Why bother... we've been here all along...
Waiting for faith to fall... but light...
This burn is changing me from a poison to purpose...
And the thought is poetry...
This awakening... it starts with a fallout...
Silence became my crutch and I...
I got by without knowing enough...
So much conviction as I... as I paced this room...
The mystery in me is on display for hundreds to see...
But now I think it's time...
Time for that change the mystery in me is on display...
For a hundred to see love like fire...
This is our prayer you know I'd die...
Just to be with you
