

Serena Ryder

"Blown Like The Wind At Night"

Visit "Blown Like The Wind At Night" on MotoLyrics.com

Let's get drunk and let's pretend
We are not slaves to anything
Or anyone who tells us how to be

We're simply witness to the war
Participating on the living room floor
And eating up or television dreams

I hope to God, you haven't seen
The last part of the best of me
Oh, tell me this is gonna be alright

Blown like the wind at night
But I ain't shaken
Stone blind, water rise
Patience, patience

I told you once, I told you twice
Have you no ears, have you no eyes?
If this is love then what is hate?
Do you understand my fate?

Oh, I'm not broken, you can't fix me
Wish I had a man to miss me
Tell me everything will be alright

Blown like the wind at night
But I ain't shaken
Stone blind, water rise
Patience, patience

Blown like the wind at night
But I ain't shaken
Stone blind, water rise
Patience, patience

Oh, I'm blown like the wind at night
But I ain't shaken
Stone blind, water rise
Patience, patience

