I burn the pictures I hocked the ring I got a rid of everything
That had the slightest chance to make a mem'ry reappear
I sold the house now that's the last of things that link me to the past
So how can you be gone if you were never here
If you were never here I never loved you at all The past will be the future before a tear has time to fall
The Salvation Army came and took the balance of your things
So how can you be gone if you were never here [steel]
If you were never here...
