In a world of sobriety silence is overwhelming
Drown in it before you begin to fight
In a world of sobriety you never quite know what to say
But more importantly how to say it
You'll spend the night begging for the light of day

5 more minutes and the words will come out
5 more minutes it's all you've got
You've got to break the mold there's nothing to lose
Break the mold it's not like you can choose

You've still got 5 more minutes till the break of day
Cling onto those 5 minutes like it's all you've got Hold on like your life depended on it
Or just give up
It's that simple
