You're haunting me beautiful
I want you to finally feel complete
Well I-I-I want you you you

You're haunting me beautiful
You're one individual
With soft seductive lips
To the ribbons in your fingertips
Scratching the surface is a man with a purpose
To spill his heart and hopes so he can finally be complete

I want you to know just how far I would go
For your attention, just one seconds all I need
I want you to know just how far I would go
I give up anything cuz I refuse to say you without me

Your touch is contagious
Your touch is contagious
And I'm overly anxious
I want you more I'm starving for you, so badly I can taste it

I want you to know just how far I would go
For your attention, just one seconds all I need
I want you to know just how far I would go
I give up anything cuz I refuse to say you without me

I want you to know, just how far I would go
For your attention just one seconds all I need

I want you to know just how far I would go
For your attention, just one seconds all I need
I want you to know just how far I would go
I give up anything cuz I refuse to say you without me
