there's nothing stopping us from smashing this car into the wall except maybe the logic
that crash
would break every one of our bones & leave them speechless

standing cliff-side
staring at the fall
let's hold our hands & close our eyes
inching one step forward

let me go

into the great divide
and leave them speechless
stretch out my arms
swandive

stretch out my arms wide
swandive

and leave them speechless

we'll never know until we dive
