Take your breath away

i know your out there somewhere longing to be free and i know you got someone to blame all these question running round your head that you cannot explain i saw you sitting over there all by yourself and i heard you screaming out his name open up your heart and i'll show you something that will ease the pain
the pain

quit searching for a love to last you for all time i hold the answers in these hands of mine

i can take your breath away
i can take your breath away
come my way
my way

you say you've never felt this way before it's always you whose knocking on my door sometimes i wonder who and why and when and what your fighting for what are you fighting for

quit searching for a love to last you for all time

i can take your breath away
come my way

i can take your breath away

come my way
