This conversation is going nowhere
I hear you speaking but it means nothing
Brazilian, German or Portuguese/French
Your lips keep moving by it's making no sense and
This conversation is going nowhere

But what's that you said I can't make out your words
That are coming from you
What's that you said I can't make out those words
That are coming from you

You just keep talking you keep on yakking
But no one's listening to your lips a-flapping
So maybe you're mental or playing some joke
But all your noises are giving me a stroke and
You just keep talking you keep you keep a yakking

What's that you said I can't make out those words
That are coming from you
But what's that you said I can't make out those words
That are coming from you

Where's Joe Jackson?

What's that you said?
I can't make out those words
What's that you said?
I can't make out those words
What's that you said?
I can't make out those words. NO!
What's that you said?
I can't make out those words

This conversation is going nowhere
I hear you speak but it means nothing
Brazilian, German or Portuguese/French
Your lips keep moving by it's making no sense and
This conversation has gone nowhere

What's that you said I can't make out those words
That are coming from you
But what's that you said I can't make out those words

That are coming from you
What's that you said I can't make out those words
That are coming from you
But what's that you said I can't make out those words
That are coming from you
