Someday I will fly over the rooftops and I'll have all that I've dreamed for
Still, there's something inside of me
That I can see that begs for so much more
I've tried walking the line
Let's just say that I've lost my mind
And I'll give up the world for you
There is nothing I'd rather do Than walk in the light of the truth knowing that you will still come through I know that you will still come through
Someday I will fly over the rooftops
And I'll have all that I've dreamed for
Still, there's something inside of me
That I can see that begs for so much more
And I try to give all I am
And I'll give it all over again
