I have signed the dotted line again
There's no mistaking what I've done
The situation had become my friend until I found the one
I was separated without your love
Only you could set me free. Looking on I know the past will never hold my spirit down
Cause I am on this track now
Never gonna turn it back
So when you whisper I'll go
It's more than just emotion
It's a state of mind
So when you whisper I'll go the way you lead me
If I could see the very heart of my life
There's no telling what you'd think of me
You can't take away the moment or the fire that burns inside
Just maybe you might see the light
There have been so many times that I have fallen down
Well I am never going back, never going back now
