I'm driving northbound
The city lights are fading
I turn the music loud
I can't deny that I feel alive
Like I've been born again, born again
Sing loud a new song
The verse it makes the chorus takes
My heart and makes me whole
Still driving northbound
As I remember why I'm running away
Cause I want to be with you

The fullness of joy is found in your presence
The fullness of life is in you
The center of life is you in its essence
The fullness of joy is found in your presence

Hold me, surround me
And overwhelm my heart with the simplest of things
On this beautiful afternoon
Our children play, we're far away
This time we take and celebrate our love again
One thing I'm sure of
This is where I want to stay
The fullness of joy is found in your presence
The fullness of life is in you
The center of life is you in its essence
The fullness of joy is found in your presence

And I keep you now always before me
Because you are at my right hand
I will not be shaken, no no
And my heart is glad and my soul rejoices
You've shown to me the path of life
And given me the joy
That is found
From your right hand pleasures flow forevermore
From your right hand pleasures flow forevermore

The fullness of joy is found in your presence
The fullness of life is in you
The center of life is you in its essence

The fullness of joy is found in your presence
