They have already written my eulogy though I am still standing and I still breathe.
No fear inside... no end in sight... I am not close to that endless night.

I see my friends drop like flies one by one into that void.
The only thing that I have learned in life is that every beating heart must die.

But it is all just a game to me until I fall to that final sleep.
Adversity...
Adversity...
Its is all just a game to me.

At war with everything I see, all this shameless monotony.
Another day... another chance... to fight this faceless circumstance.

But it is all just a game to me until I fall to that final sleep.
Adversity...
Adversity...
Its is all just a game to me.

I don't give a fuck.
I don't give a fuck.
I don't give a fuck.
I don't give a fuck.

The shadow of death follows me but I don't give a fuck.
