Everybody's asking questions
As it rushes to the back of my mind
The nurse is coming with my remedies
Now i'm taking back what's right
Emergency it's life threatening
When i don't connect your eyes with mine
Shadows fall with your dignity
It's eating away at your life
While you sleep
And after all we learned we still run too far
Round in circles, when all i just wanted was for
You to understand me
I think now i've learned my leason
Never mix an angels breath with wine
Exchanging notes with a den of thieves
To disapear in the light
Faceless, wonder of the world
With no place, no place to call his own
And after all we learned we still run too far
Round in circles, when all i just wanted was for
You to understand me
All though, at times, i'm so
Uncertain, reliving these tears and silent
Cries, distance, distaught, always Hurting someone this time i'll get
This right
And after all we learned we still run too far
Round in circles, when all i just wanted was for
You to understand me
Faceless, wonder of the world
With no place, no place to call his own
Don't try to undo what's been done
Close your eyes and sleep
