I've been fighting for your life in this creepy little world I've been speaking guns and knives trying hard to save a girl

Because almost everything you want it's just mirrors, dust and smoke take a look at what we got and you'll finally get the joke and I'm fighting for your life hard to bring you closer when you're trying hard to hide

hard to win you over Because I'm fighting for your life
come on baby, try to love the things you never liked and help me now, I'm fighting for your life probably wasted too much time trying to weigh you down with rules shielding mercenary eyes from the words we never use
