Pointing out that we are gone
Dead and blown into our scars
So wake up it's getting real
All those wounds will make us bleed

We are slipping away
Causing a chaos we can't escape
A siren in distance about to appear
Loud and clear.

Those empty tears about to fall
What have we done
A collapse of everything is close
Two times in a row
Why are we trashing this whole city
When we're at the end
Anyway...

I know a better way
But we are about to decay
I know this better place
But you see it's in your face

But you're not alone
This situation has come to an end
I can't promise you anything
But I'm sure we have a plan

Those empty tears about to fall
What have we done
A collapse of everything is close
Two times in a row
Why are we trashing this whole city
When we're at the end
Anyway...

Those empty tears about to fall
What have we done
A collapse of everything is close
Two times in a row
Why are we trashing this whole city

When we're at the end
Anyway...
