Afterwhile you'll see it clearer
Afterwhile it might make sense
Why everything you held so dear
Is now of little consequence to you
And there's nothing you can do

Afterwhile the sun starts shining down where only shadows fell
A chance to make a new beginning and start again you might as well

Every cause you make's gonna come right back to you
Every cause you make's gonna come right back

So don't worry now, you've still got time
Don't let the past take you alive
The past take you alive, alive

So take my hand and show me something that I have never seen before
Enlighten me to new ways of thinking
And show me what my heart is for

Every cause you make's gonna come right back to you
Every cause you make's gonna come right back

So don't worry now, you've still got time
Don't let the past take you alive.
Don't worry now, you've still got time
Don't let the past take you alive.
The past take you alive

And afterwhile we'll see what became of choices that we made today
Will we be happier by then, will we be slaves to yesterday
