The bags were packed by midnight
Then we parted ways without a sound
We'd seen them play their concerts
Now all that you do is follow them around

The life of constant travel had it's ups and downs
So many towns

You had no say
The decision had been made
You turned away
Suddenly it was not the same

Tell me, where did we go wrong?
You were gone so long
Just for something to do
Just for something to do

You gave your life to silence
Just to realize it was not for you
Back in our old apartment
Waiting for the day
When it's me you choose

I had no say
The decision had been made
I turned away
Suddenly it was not the same

Tell me, where did we go wrong?
Oh, you were gone so long
Just for something to do
Just for something to do

You let them bring you down
Oh, lost what you had found
Just for something to do
Just for something to do

Tell me, where did we go wrong?
Oh, you were gone so long
Just for something to do

Just for something to do

You let them bring you down
Oh, lost what you had found
Just for something to do
Just for something to do
