They say you're wrong but they know you're right
They say you're wrong but they know you're right
They say you're wrong but they know you're right
They say you're wrong but they know

Here I am once again back in this old town
Where the walls are white and I'll be floating around
Coming off of your end

Straighten kinks with the shrinks
My peptides are fine
I was just having fun
And now I'm losing my mind

I don't wanna be sold
I don't wanna be sold

They say you're wrong but they know you're right
They say you're wrong but they know you're right
They say you're wrong but they know you're right
They say you're wrong but they know

They say you're wrong but they know you're right
They say you're wrong but they know that they're wrong
and you're right
They say you're wrong but they know you're right
They say you're wrong but they know

In a criminal way all my neurons are shot
And my doctor spoke up
Yeah, that happens a lot
I don't know where I am

Chemicals coming through like radio waves
Oh my lord, she reminds me...

I don't wanna be sold
I don't wanna be sold

They say you're wrong but they know you're right
They say you're wrong but they know you're right
They say you're wrong but they know you're right

They say you're wrong but they know

They say you're wrong but they know you're right
They say you're wrong but they know that they're wrong
and you're right
They say you're wrong but they know you're right
They say you're wrong but they know
They say you're wrong but they know
They say you're wrong but they know

They say you're wrong but they know you're right
They say you're wrong but they know you're right
They say you're wrong but they know you're right
They say you're wrong but they know

They say you're wrong but they know
They say you're wrong but they know
They say you're wrong but they know
