So you're losing tonight
Nothing seems to go right
You keep playing the wrong cards, don't you
Someone's throwing the dice
And you need some advice
So you listen to me now, won't you
You don't know what's at stake
That your heart's gonna break
If you don't watch yourself tonight
The Queen of Hearts is back in town
Still wears the crown
She does not intend to abdicate
She'll be playing it cool
She'll make you feel like a fool
And you will never know if she will play it straight
The Queen of Hearts is back again
And it's you she wants my friend
You'll see how well she knows her game
You're a loser from the very start
Because she deals for your heart
For as long as you know

You've been running the show
Always played at the winning table
Now you know you should leave
There's no ace up your sleeve
But you feel that you are unable
And you know what's at stake
That your heart's gonna break
If you don't watch yourself tonight
The Queen of Hearts is back in town
Still wears the crown
She does not intend to abdicate
She'll be playing it cool
She'll make you feel like a fool
And you will never know if she will play it straight
The Queen of Hearts is back again
And it's you she wants my friend
You'll see how well she knows her game
You're a loser from the very start
Because she deals for your heart
