morning girl
where you been so long?
your lips have got some color now a little too much color now your clothes have gone from nylon to lace somehow
morning girl
my you've been around i see you haven't found your man the diamonds on the other hand well the man is hard to find in a womans land oh don't let too many fears wash away your dreams just tell yourself that nothing matters but be prepared
cuz someday girl
you'll forget my name
and all i've ever said to you and all i've ever meant to you and now your getting up and i've got things to do
morning girl
cuz someday girl
where you been so long?
where you been so long?
morning girl
