Take me in your arms and tell me it's alright to dream
Of anything I want and anywhere I want to be
Tell me there's so much out there you want to show me
And even in my nightmares you'll be watching over me
And I swear I'll never move

I could get so used to this, baby
I could get so used to this

Wrap your legs around until you almost smother me Then stare into my eyes and tell me it's alright to breathe
Come down from above, spread your wings and cover me
Cause even in the shadows we see all that lovers see
And I swear I'll never move

I could get, oh, so used to this, baby
I could get, oh, so used to this, baby

Out in the streets and behind the closed doors
You've got my back and baby I've got yours
Nothing can touch you, nothing can harm me
You'll be my angel, I'll be your army now

I could get, oh, so used to this, baby
I could get, oh, so used to this, baby
