It's like every sparkle
That fell from your eyes
It's like every dream they sold you
Came today like some terrible vision
They Came the day
Nothing seemed to be right

It's like every light
Gave it's soul to the darkness
And said it's last good-byes
It's like every day
Made it's mark on the future
And promptly left you behind

You had a voice that could wake me
Saving me from myself

I wanted to find
Things I lost in the mirror
Who lives behind that face?
I needed to find
What was real and illusion
To prove that I was ok

You had a voice that could wake me
Saving me from myself

Laughing on the outside
But the inside is another ride
That I never wanted to see
Laughing on the outside
But the inside is another ride
And I never asked them to be...yeah

You helped me to see
That the sky hadn't fallen
Were just my eyes misplaced?
You said I could look
Past the crack in the mirror
Past the empty space

I thank you for eyes

That can see what i'm dreaming
What did you see in my face?
I thank you for days
Far away from this sadness
