That old picture on the dresser goes with your things
We've separated everything between us
The rocking chair in the corner goes with mine
You can take the bed and have the TV
It's the kindest that we've been in a long, long time
And I'll keep the stereo if you don't mind
But there's still one thing we've got left between us
And we don't know what to do, I wonder if we thought this through

What about the love we made?
She's upstairs in her room, cryin' over me and you
Lord we never meant to hurt her this way
We've divided everything me and you
Now what about the love we made?
Even her little heart right in two

We've told her at least a thousand times we love her
But who could blame her if she won't believe us
And no matter what happens that won't change
Aren't we the same ones who told her

She'd never see this day?
It filled us both with shame when she told her dolly
"Now promise me that you won't leave me too"
If there's something I've done wrong
And it was more than I could take when she said
"Mommy

Well, I'll be good for you"
Oh, what about the love we made?
She's upstairs in her room
Crying over me and you
Lord we never meant to hurt her this way
We've divided everything me and you
Even her little heart right in two
What about the love we made'Now what about the love we made?
