It takes forever to convince them that you're who you say you are.

They like to judge you

But you know they'll only do it from afar

You know there's something to always push you on.

Blows keep comin' at ya

Life don't seem to care for you at all

You know there's somethin' that keeps you movin' on

You keep on movin'

Even though you know you're heading for a fall

Now I know where I'm going

And I know where I'm coming from

Now I know where I'm going

Doesn't really matter what you say

Hit me with your best shot

Y'know I'm gonna be okay!

You're in the gutter

But there's part of you that's starin' at the stars

If they had their way you'd be singing on the street and working bars

Then they're on your side

You can do no wrong

If they don't hurt you now

How come you use them for another song?

Your eyes are open now

You know what to believe

And suddenly it's all about that song and pulling on a sleeve...!

Now I know where I'm going

And I know where I'm coming from

Now I know where I'm going

Doesn't really matter what you say

Hit me with your best shot

Y'know I'm gonna be okay-ay-ay...

Okay...

Now I know where I'm going

And I know where I'm coming from

Now I know where I'm going

Doesn't really matter what you say
Hit me with your best shot
Y'know I'm gonna be okay!

Now I know where I'm going
And I know where I'm coming from
Now I know where I'm going
Doesn't really matter what you say
Hit me with your best shot
Y'know I'm gonna be okay!
