

Sheryl Clapton "Then Just Me"

Visit "Then Just Me" on MotoLyrics.com

Then Just Me Down that rabbit hoe I fell that opened up my mind so well.

But different creatures did I meet than Alice told of before.

Those I met had different shpes, than those who had gone before,

Instead of catipiller wings they were men in clothes.

Cho: But, the cats in my house know how to grin,
The moon I've seen has such soul within.

Ladies here have tea they share,
We sit and smoke, she the tea and me,
We communicate through our minds and phone line,
Several times I've seen it work just great.

Cho: But, the cats in my house know how to grin,
The moon I've seen has such soul within.

Driving all around life does surround,
Echos memories of this new life I have found,
Awaken my heart does say, but only to a beautiful day.

Cho: But, the cats in my house know how to grin,
The moon I've seen has such soul within.

Visit Sheryl Clapton page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.