Tell me the story of your life,
And how you thought you would never fail
Tell me about the plans you had
That you couldn't unveil

And into these things we ought
We would walk until we could not crawl
And underneath the rocks, we used to share that we would never fall

And we keep soldiering on
We keep soldiering on
Till it's done

Winter, she came quick and buried me beneath the ice
In the raw and in the flesh and in the weeds, I was tranquilized
A leopard changes up his spots, I tend to bite my tail
Took you in so far, inhaled till I could not exhale

And we keep soldiering on
We keep soldiering on
Till it's done
