"What Would You Say?"

You're saying that i am right, but at the same time i am wrong.

If you could just lay down your pride like i have done for song.

Like when i called you and i let the phone ring a thousand times.

What i would give if you were there.

If i told you that i need you, what would you say?

What would you say?

If i told you that i need you, what would you say?

Is it time that i face the facts?

You aren't coming back again?

I just can't seem to tell myself that this is the end.

So i call you and i let the phone ring a thousand times.

What i would give if you were there.
