This burning love keeps melting my frozen heart
Stop, please stop, heart
It's too difficult if you remain burning

It's ok. It'll be ok, I say,
Trying to soothe my heart.
But my lips start to quiver and my eyes fill with tears
I don't want to cry, but my tears don't comply

What do I do? I love that woman
She's smiling at me. But she doesn't know me
What do I do? If she finds out the real me
I won't be able to see that smile again

I watch you cautiously, fearful my loving heart will get lost in your eyes

I tell my heart it can't. I tell it to stop being this way,
Holding my breath to stop it from beating...
But my lips start to quiver and my eyes fill with tears
And I fall to pieces with a sigh

What do I do? I love that woman
She's smiling at me. But she doesn't know me
What do I do? If she finds out the real me
I won't be able to see that smile again
I love you. Please remain not knowing me.
I'll gaze at you forever
