[ENGLISH]

I wish my chest was frozen
So that my burning heart would cool down
Please stop, heart of mine
The aching is painful

It's OK, it'll be OK
I calm my burnt heart
But my lips tremble and my eyes fill up
I don't want to cry, but my tears won't take note

What should I do? I love that child
She smiles at me, not knowing how I feel
What should I do? If she finds me like this
I won't be able to see her smile again
The look of love may reflect in my eyes
So I gaze at her with caution

I say no, to quit it
And stop my breath so my heart won't beat
But my lips tremble and my eyes fill up
I'm crushed once more by my sighs

What should I do? I love that child
She smiles at me, not knowing how I feel
What should I do? If she finds me like this
I won't be able to see her smile again
I love you, but you still don't know me
I'll pine for you eternally
