How can i forget all those things you said?
Don't let me hang this phone up tonight.
This may be the last time that i ever hear your voice.
I'll take this to my grave with me.

She said that this was best.
I say that you're dead wrong.

Watch me die under this california moon.
How across the world you kill me with those words.
You assume that you can say you're sorry all you want,
But it won't do much much good.
I am dying tonight.

There's something soothing not knowing what is wrong.
Don't let me hang this phone up tonight.
This will be the last time that i ever hear your voice.
I'll take this to my grave with me.

For just once, you said, that you'd like to believe in all i am.
And after all that you said and everything that i did,
you can't.
You can't.
