I've been dying inside for so long to say this to you.
Until now, i never could find how to say it right.
With this one last breath, i'll say it as i close my eyes.
So say goodnight.

You had to know that everything you did came back to me.
How long could this go on before i finally let it win?
I held it off as long as i could.
But god, this was killing me.

So say goodnight.
I think you'll understand.
See my face, stare into these lifeless eyes.
You did it right, and thanks to you i can finally say my last farewell.
So say goodnight.

I've been dying inside for so long to say this to you.
Until now, i never could find how to say it right.
I let the worst of you get the best of me this time.
