That cold winter night, dancing under the moon as the stars shone off the waves.

I will never forget the way you made me feel when we walked hand in hand,

Barefoot through sand as i looked into your eyes.

I gently kissed your lips and i was gone. i was gone.

Here i am tonight, staring at the stars, wishing i was in your arms.

A thousand miles away, dreaming of the ocean and you.

The day that i left, oh how i held you close, never wanting to let go.

I could never forget the way that you made me feel when we walked hand in hand.

Now as i look back, the only thing i have left are just these memories.

These memories. these memories...
