Say goodnight
Now the window's broken
Turn out the light
Pray they're safe from the war

Swallow the fright
Felt but never spoken
This is the terror
We learn to endure

Now the dark time comes
What is this world going though?
The children are fed, asleep in their bed
Dreaming their dream of worlds ahead

Dreaming of this world
That we are turning in
Turning into dawn
Into light, into love, into one

Lives are lost
Once more a building shatters
Count up the cost

Know it won't be the last
Fear is the boss
It's war and nothing matters
Except the children growing up fast

Now the dark time comes
Fierce is the red, white and blue
But long overdue
The peace that we knew
So sleep, little babes, your dream is true

Dreaming of this world
That we are turning in
Turning into dawn
Into light, into love, into one
