I've got nothing to say, you've been leaving all day
Now it's time that you go and let me cry
You've got somewhere to be, you're still waiting on me
But there's no reason to say goodbye

Leaves fall as the trees give up the view
And lies will fall away leaving you
Leaving you, leaving you

So don't keep waiting around for some words to be found
Saying, "Everything's fair in love and war"
The truth has changed how I see Now you look different to me, like you are not who I loved before

I dreamed it was true, what I saw in you
'Cause that's what a dreamer does
But the love that I dreamed is not what it seemed I guess that it never was

So I will say my goodbyes, but not to your eyes
For the one that I loved is gone, somehow
For without all the lies, without that disguise
You're just a stranger now

Leaves fall as the trees give up the view
And lies will fall away leaving you
Leaving you, leaving you
