At night as we lay down to sleep
I wonder what you'll show me
I think of you and the thoughts that you keep
And I, I wonder do you know me Everything that I have is broken in two Everything that I am revolves around you
And you just don't understand
What a girl goes through Everyone believes in something
Though we give it different names
You can search the world for that one thing
But it's all the same
Chorus:
Lay your body down Come and let me bring your body down
Listen to my voice
the only sound
As I lullaby you, lullaby you down
As the moon rides away from the sun
She takes all his light and reflects it
I relate them to us just for fun
There's a parallel that's unexpected
Every star in the sky, reminds me of you
Twinkling in my eyes,
The way that you do
And I don't know why
I get so blue
Everyday is filled with changes
No matter where you go
Living in a world of strangers
So we go for what we know
Chorus
Everyone believes in something
But it's all the same
Attitude will keep me going
So I guess I can't complain

Chorus
