Shiver

I'm walking through this blizzard alone (without you)

I'm so cold

It's summer and my heart is frozen

It's 98 degrees outside but I can't feel the sun

The only thing that keeps me warm these cigarettes and rum

Frozen tears fall from my eyes

Like icicles in mid-July

I slowly start to lose my mind

I'm Snow-blind in summer time

Both his eyes has got me slipin', slipin', slipin'

Chills since you've been gone has got me tripin', tripin'

It's going to be a cold, cold, cold, summer, without you
(Cold, cold summer)(Cold, cold summer)

It's going to be a cold, cold, cold, summer, without you
(Cold, cold summer)

Weatherman says "good news go on out and and catch a tan"

So why am I still shivering, I just don't understand

Rainbows in the sky and me, on the dark side of the moon

In my world the trees are bare a hint of snow is in the air

Both his eyes has got me slipin', slipin', slipin'

Chills since you've been gone has got me tripin', tripin'

It's going to be a cold, cold, cold, summer, without you
(Cold, cold summer)(Cold, cold summer)

It's going to be a cold, cold, cold, summer, without you
(Cold, cold summer)(Cold, cold summer)

So cold

Ohhh (Cold, cold summer)

Write your name across my windowpane

But the frost covers it up again

When you are by my side

We were burning up in winter time

But the flame's gone out since you went away

It's going to be a cold, cold, cold, summer, without you
(Cold, cold summer)(Cold, cold summer)

It's going to be a cold, cold, cold, summer, without you
(Cold, cold summer)(Cold, cold summer)

Rainbows in the sky and me, on the dark side of the moon

In my world the trees are bare a hint of snow is in the air

Can't do this without you

(Cold, cold summer)(Cold, cold summer)

Looking outside there's nothing but stormy weather
