We can't afford to lose all the moments we've been fighting for

We cannot fall, for all the fighting would be useless waste of all the time behind us

All the promises and time before us

We're holding on 'Cause only time we're really living is when we breed each other's breath

And changing all the finite things into the infinitely ones we can destroy now

Time before us

Is all we have left now

Let's try not be led by the fear

Let's talk,

Let's brake the walls of our own

We can afford to try to understand our moves and what's inside ourselves

Than we'll be able to say:

We did the best thing we knew and we know it's the only one we had

Don't get me wrong

Time before us

Will make us stronger

I won't blame you

I won't blame myself

I won't blame the pain

It's the reason we grew better

Don't blame yourself

Don't blame myself

Don't blame the happiness

It will bring us together

I hope so...
