How can you say the things I want you to say When the words fall down, crumble and then they blow away

I need you to give to me the strength to see me through A steady arm to catch me when I am falling and there's nothing to hold on to

Oh when everything slips away
Let me hold on To you

How can I say the things I want to say to you Helplessly I stumble ruining everything and there's nothing I can do

Oh when everything slips away
Let me hold on To you
