

Dawn Of Dreams

"Nearly A Requiem"

The clouds are colored orange

By street-lamps and hope

Swirling upwards to the Silent - cloudy - dreamy sky

'cause when I die

I reach out to the stars and when I cry

while looking at my past my mother sighs

she buries me so deep deep in my heart

so let me stay and sleep

I'm reaching out for hope

Not for love - 'cause there's no more

My parents are standing by my grave

Finally a place where I fell save
