Take us away to a time
Where no one can read our minds
To tread the northern lights and Climb to lonely heights

The sun would rise and fall
We'd never part at all
To see each other's lives
Evolve and hypnotise

We were fighting with a young heart
We were running with a head start
Fighting with a young heart
Just to be together

To love my heart was torn Horizons new were born
From clouded fitful dreams
I'm washed ashore it seems
We saw the years go by Reflected in our eyes
And now we understand
As we walk hand in hand

We were fighting with a young heart
We were running with a head start
Fighting with a young heart
Just to be together

We were fighting with a young heart
We were running with a head start
Fighting with a young heart
Running free forever

We did not realise
How we could be so blind
The art of love takes time
Just to break out from inside

We were fighting with a young heart
We were fighting with a young heart

woah yeah

We were fighting with a young heart
We were running with a head start
Fighting with a young heart
Just to be together

We were fighting with a young heart
running with a head start
fighting with a young heart
running free together

We were fighting with a young heart
we were running with a head start
fighting with a young heart
just to be together
