So the sun fades and the lights break and the spark is blown away
A million miles from here to there and superman's not anywhere
The roads about to sleep
And the smoke is thickening
Just like a part of me is dissolving
Collapsing

Were walking, but no talking, everything is hazy
Like we all are strangers and the cat took our tongues away
His lips were very still Let the words out if you will
Cuz I'm running, I'm running out of time
Were running, were running out of time.

It happened, I heard it in the breakdown
If it ever let's go
You know there's no stopping now

So we stepped up, and we checked in Another bed I'm sleeping in Another smoke-filled crowded room
Another mirror I look into
This feeling takes awhile
Laugh it off when you make me smile
But I'm running, I'm running out of time
Were running, were running out of time

It happened, I heard it in the breakdown
If it ever let's go
You know there's no stopping now
It happened, I heard it in the breakdown
If it ever let's go
You know there's no stopping now

You know, you know...
You knew exactly what I was looking for
You knew exactly what I was looking for

It happened, I heard it in the breakdown

If it ever let's go
You know there's no stopping now
It happened, I heard it in the breakdown
If it ever let's go
You know there's no stopping now
