Like Miss America trying to live her dream

She's just another teenage drama queen

And I'm just a boy that's stuck at home

I'll slip this note into your locker, reply yes or no

Look at the time, c'mon baby let's go

Oh, you have my heart, you're in control

Did my plan backfire right in my face?

Can you see the smoke rising oh from your place?

And you knew all along what was wrong

And so I'm leavin this message on your phone

Were you just too busy or just not home?

And I'll leave a message after the tone

And I'll hope for the best but prepare for the worst

Don't worry girl, I deleted you first

And goodbye, so long, farewell

The love was good, but life was hell

So here comes your little bit of fame

Silicone and yes lipstick will stain

To my face the color red

I cannot get you outta my head

I'll straighten up the top of you

But like a knife the jacket just won't just do

And I'm hanging on here by a thread

Go cut these trees, get out of my head
Did my plan backfire right in my face?

Could you see the smoke rising from your place?

And you knew all along what was wrong
And so I'm leavin this message on your phone

Were you just too busy or just not home?

And I'll leave a message after the tone

And I'll hope for the best but prepare for the worst

Don't worry girl, I deleted you first

And goodbye, so long, farewell

The love was good, but life was hell
And if I don't answer I'm probably just avoiding

Cause conversation gets so annoying

And Leave a message after the tone
(Please leave a message, after the tone)

And so I'm leavin this message on your phone

Were you just too busy or just not home?

And I'll leave a message after the tone

(Please leave a message, after the tone)

And I'll hope for the best but prepare for the worst

Don't worry girl, I deleted you first

And goodbye, so long, farewell

The love was good, but life was hell
