"New Batteries"

Barbwire that's stapled in my bleeding mouth Locked in a cage
naked animals beat me
and a saviour knocks
an untamed animal inserts new batteries and charges once again
and charges once again
and charges once again
and charges once again

We set off into the unknown until we destroy everything and are dominant once again
once again
once again
once again into the back where we ride

The barbwire returns in my mouth, ripping an old healed wound My soul has grown rusty
I want to cut
and slice myself to death But lacking courage,
I shut myself off instead

I'm alone again
