Something happened to us
Too painful to discuss
I choke my feelings to the core
Now I'm left wondering
Was it you or something
I did that slid you out the door

Something happened to us
Too painful to discuss
I choke my feelings to the core
Now I'm left wondering
Was it you or something
I did that slid you out the door

I watched you walk away
And you changed for the worst today

Have you found a new life
Was there somebody out there
I sit alone in the dark
Desperate... not that you care.

Should I be holding out hope
That you'll turn back through the daylight
Or am I kidding myself
I'll medicate through the long night of self doubt and cursed complaints

I watched you walk away
And you changed for the worst today

Unobligated hours that now fill my day
Painting a self portrait in shades of gray
Optimism is waning... hopes are dashed
I'm moping and coping through the aftermath
Of losing you

I watched you walk away
And you changed for the worst today
