Although every building's standing tall
I look for you in something that's much greater
I've searched for my religion
In the hope that something that could entice
I dreamed of crossing bridges
Mountain ridges from the Pole to the Equator

But when I saw you skating by
I was underneath the ice
Underneath the ice, underneath the ice
Was underneath the ice, underneath the ice

I woke up staring at the sun
I searched for you in every hidden angle
All my imagination
Every face and place, memory inside
High above the clouds they say
A galaxy and other destination

And then I saw you skating by
But I was underneath the ice
Underneath the ice, I was underneath the ice
I was underneath the ice, underneath the ice
Was underneath the ice, underneath the ice
I was underneath the ice, underneath the ice

Today I dreamed another dream
Predestined to come and save me later
Today I dreamed another dream
That you would come to take me home

Underneath the ice, I was underneath the ice
I was underneath the ice, underneath the ice
I was underneath the ice, underneath the ice
