I thought I saw you in my head
How'd you sleep away again?
Where'd you go?
Where'd you go?
I came so close so many times,
Even almost lost my mind, trying to find you, trying to find you.
How could this city feels so lonely?
It's hard to believe when people tell me
Don't give up when it all comes down
Only things that you lost are found
Just around the corner, just around the corner
When you don't think you can take no more
You might find what you're searching for
Just around the corner, just around the corner
It's just around the corner, yeah.
It's just around the corner
If I knew where you are somehow, I'd be running there right now
No matter how far, no matter how far
This would be easier if only
I could believe what people tell me
Don't give up when it all comes down

Only things that you lost are found
Just around the corner, just around the corner
When you don't think you can take no more
You might find what you're searching for
Just around the corner
It's just around the corner, yeah.
It's just around the corner, yeah.
Just around the corner
I swear the stars look like they're crying
Waiting for Love can feel like dying wow
Don't give up when it all comes down
Only things that you lost are found
Just around the corner, just around the corner
When you don't think you can take no more
You might find what you're searching for
Just around the corner
It's just around the corner, yeah.
Just around the corner

It's just around the corner, yeah.
Just around the corner
It's just around the corner
