Just Another Day
And it feels like you're still running late cause the times are gonna change
and you're stuck in your own mentality

you can try to lead us all (try to lead us all)
but there's no one else to blame
won't be left to clean the mess
when you're gone

running out of time

and you just don't get it you're watching people die
and you still don't care
and you just don't get that this is how i feel
there's a million things i hate about you

it's just another battle when you exercise your authority
when the past is finally settled
will you cath up with reality?

too long
now it's time for us to pay and we won't be looking

now you're watching people die
about you

i don't wanna hear the
same excuses
i don't wanna hear your stories

if everybody dies would you still don't care?

i don't wanna think about you this is how i feel
