

Sinéad Lohan

"Did I Do The Right Thing"

Visit "Did I Do The Right Thing" on MotoLyrics.com with dark red berries on the branches i'm further than you think next to station platform people we're all waiting for a train sometimes not even i can tell you i'm nearer than you know behind your eyes a burning memory let the fears of broken pieces go i fill my bag with clouds and rivers emptied the castle of the crows i left the sand and sea forever to be exactly here now

did i do the right thing

it's in and out of time you move me i'm scattered all around i was in a light and then you threw me like a shadow to the ground
sometimes not even i can tell you
i'm nearer than you know
behind your eyes a burning memory

let the tears of broken pieces go

i fill my bag with clouds and rivers
emptied the castle of the crows
i left the sand and sea forever
to be exactly here now
did i do the right thing

i'd forever talk to you but soon my words would turn into a meaningless ring and deep in my heart I know there's no help i can bring but everything passes everything changes just do what you think you should do and someday maybe who knows baby i'll come and be crying to you

