The sirens they're calling out
But you're not there
Like a flower
They put you someplace else
You leave behind these thorns
And nail them around my heart

It never felt this good
Though I'll keep on lying

I don't know what to do
Should I keep on crying or
Should I pray for your safety?
I can't keep up

The sirens they're calling out
But you're not there
Since you're out of reach
I'll try to understand

It never felt this good
Though I'll keep on lying

I don't know what to do
Should I keep on crying or
Should I pray for your safety?
I can't keep up

All we know is falling at fault
All we know is falling at fault
All we know is falling at fault
All we know is breaking

This is the hardest part
This is the hardest part!

I don't know what to do
Should I keep on crying or
Should I pray for your safety?
I can't keep up
