Picture the scene, another cafe
Five minutes late, you walk my way
A rendez-vous, another bore
Turned out to be a whole lot more

We got to talking 'bout our views and ideals
About love and hate and what each other feels
You held my hand, I pulled away
But something in the air, something made me stay

Say it wasn't a dream, say the moment was real
Tell me you didn't lie when you said how you feel
I've been feeding an illusion, afraid of my life
But now, I wanna open my eyes
But I need to be sure you're more than a dream

You told me story I wanted to hear
Played me a song, made your feelings clear
Side by side at the dead of night
You drew me close and it felt so right

I can't explain the warmth in my heart
Nothing on this earth could tear us apart
I'm so confused by the way things are
Is it all for real, are we gonna go far?

Say it wasn't a dream, say the moment was real
Tell me you didn't lie when you said how you feel
I've been feeding an illusion, afraid of my life
But now, I wanna open my eyes
But I need to be sure you're more than a dream

The night is over but I linger on
Don't want to live, don't wanna move on
I feel complete
I feel secure
Within your arms I feel so sure
Don't leave me now I know what love is
Don't leave me now I need your kiss
I'll let you in
I'll give you the key
If you'll only say, say you'll stay with me

Say it wasn't a dream, say the moment was real
Tell me you didn't lie when you said how you feel
I've been feeding an illusion, afraid of my life
But now, I wanna open my eyes
But I need to be sure you're more than a dream.
